

---

Lee Brenner

Head of Public Policy, Digital Assets
Executive Office
Washington

Lee Brenner is Head of Public Policy, Digital Assets, within the Office of Government Affairs at Goldman Sachs.

Before joining Goldman Sachs, Lee was Meta's (i.e. Facebook) first public policy subject matter expert focused on blockchain & cryptocurrencies, helping to lead the company's policy, regulatory & external engagement efforts globally on its digital assets and financial services projects, including Diem (Libra) and Novi.

Previously, Lee was Chief Strategy Officer at the Global Blockchain Business Council (GBBC), a global trade association for the blockchain technology ecosystem.

Prior to the GBBC, Lee was the Market Development Lead on Microsoft's Technology & Civic Engagement team.

Earlier, Lee co-founded HyperVocal, a digital media & events start-up. During his time at HyperVocal, Lee co-hosted "Politics Powered by Twitter," a daily "policy meets technology" program on SiriusXM.

During the early days of social media, Lee was the public policy lead at MySpace and was an Executive Producer of the groundbreaking 2007-2008 MySpace-MTV Presidential Dialogues.

Lee held the position of Senior Editorial Producer at CNN before leaving to join MySpace.

Lee earned his Masters in International & Public Affairs at the University of Hong Kong and did his undergraduate work at Tufts University. He lives in Washington, DC, with his wife and twin children.

